CITY OF EVANSVILLE.

MONDAY MORNING,:::::AUGUST 15.

Jeff Davis.

The Journal begs leave to suspend judgement in the case of the Enquirer's orthodoxy. until further and more satisfactory evidences of its political identity shall have been developed. The office of reading that paper and its amiable editor, out of the Democrat c party. we by no means covet, yet, if it continue to run after and bolster up men of doubtful political virtue, especially one who has been so "open and notorious" in political prostitution as Jeff Davis, we shall not permit him to enjoy a peaceable fellowship with our true and simon pure Democratic friends.

He acknowledges that the "gallant Secretary," as he calls him, has not always been loyal, but that he has, since his renegade days, been on the stool of repentance, and that he stood the "unfailing test of the last election," and is now firmly planted on the Baltimore platform. This may be all very true, but the fact of his being on the Baltimore platform, by virtue of a death-bed repentance, is no evidence of his orthodoxy.

Will the Enquirer also endorse the politics of the Abolitionists of Massachusetts, and the Freesoilers of New York and Ohio, who likewise stood "the unfailing test of the last election" by supporting Gen. Pierce, "with all the fearless energy of their character."

Certainly, if the last election was an "unfailing test," all who hopped on the Baltimore platform and voted for Pierce are equally as much entitled to the Enquirer's endorsment as sound democrats, as Jeff Davis. The Freesoilers of the North stumped their distric's propagating their factious sectional doctrines, up to the very eve of the last election, then got on to the Baltimore platform, All persons in want of Salt barrels, Oil supported Pierce, and are now reaping their casks, Dry Goods boxes, Grindstones, etc. dent. Jeff Davis, not only canvassed his shal, who will give due notice of an extenown State but the whole Southern tier of sive sale of such articles. States, infusing his treasonable doctrines into the people, and that too, "with all the fearthe South, gotten up for the express purpose pistol is farme l cut to sub-contractors, and

The Freesoilers stood the Enquirer's "unfailing test," but when a series of resolutions were offered in the New York legislature, which WERE A TEST of their sincerity, they "shot the pit," and those resolutions, were but a concise embodiment of the Baltimore platform.

We again aver that the Democratic Senate had the very best of grounds for protesting against the appointment of Jeff Davis, and we believe, for once, they acted from principle and in good faith to the country. masco, in cutting down streets, and filling up The protest was signed deliberately, by ravines, and many laborers are still engaged about two thirds of the Senate; for this we Property utterly unfitted for use, has been have authority of the most irrefragable rendered available by this filling up, and we character, and they are not ashamed of it have no doubt will in a short time be covered either; although they have failed to secure with houses. the Enquirer's endorsement, we happen to know that they feel proud of it. The Enquirer, not satisfied with branding the Senators who signed the protest, as unprincipled demagogues, says that it is high time to doubt their orthodoxy in politics, because the Journal saw fit, not to bolster them up, but to commend them for doing a first rate thing, with the best of reasons.

That paper also charges us with having insinuated that Pierce himself is a disunionist! You are mi-taken, sir; we insinuate no such Gen.
